

Editorial policy of Interpretextos

---

Biannual magazine of creation and divulgation of humanities of the University of Colima, through the Letters and Communication School.

To the authors

In order for the collaborations to be submitted to international and national arbitration, they must comply with the scientific, technological and humanistic quality standards of the publications of the University of Colima, Mexico. Contributions are accepted in any of the four Interpretextos biannual magazine of creation and disclosure of humanities main areas:

- Letters
- Communication
- Journalism
- Linguistic

For the spring issue, collaborations will be received until August 30; for the autumn number, until March 30. All texts must be unpublished and originals, therefore, the authors must send a letter of originality.

- Research articles must have a length from thirteen to twenty pasterns, including newspaper articles.
- Creation texts (literary tales, novellas, fragments of a novel, or poetry) must not exceed a length of ten pasterns.
- Release essays and literary essays must have a length between eight and fifteen pasterns.
- Editorial reviews must have a length between three and five pasterns.
- Low profile photographs will be rejected. A minimum resolution of 300 PPI (Pixels per Inch) is recommended.
- All texts must be sent in Word, Times New Roman, with 12 points and with a space and a half.

- Grids must be annexed separately and numbered, using the Roman system (example: Table I, Table II and III, etcetera).
- Graphics must also be annexed by separate and numbered using the Arabic system (example: 1,2,3,4 etcetera), on white paper and Indian ink.

Note: in every issue, an article will be included which will have previously been selected by the editorial committee, translated into two languages: the author's, and another that could be English, Spanish or French.

Texts in English, French and Portuguese are welcome. In the same way, you must electronically attach an acceptance for publishing letter for the original text, granting the rights of this publication to the University of Colima, as well as taking responsibility for the content of the article. This must preferably be signed by the main author.

The literature cited must contain the works mentioned in the text and vice versa, and it must be written in the following way:

Works in magazines

First author's last name (s). They must be in alphabetical order, in case that they have prepositions (von, van, de, di or others) they will be cited after the last name and the first letter of their first name (s). Example:

Berg van den, R. In case of compound surnames a dash must be placed between the two words: Elías-Calles, E.

If there are two authors, the conjunction "and" will be used to specify that it is only about two authors; Also, just one surname per author should be used: Carcía-Ulloa, M. and García, J.C. When there are more than two authors, a comma will be used after each surname, followed by the initial letter(s) of the authors' names as well as a semi-colon between each author. Example: López, B.; Carmona, M.A.; Bucio, L. and Galina, M.A., year of publication of the work. The title of the work must be included in its entirety, in italic letters, in case of works in Spanish, French, or English, nouns will be written in lowercase letters: The magazine's name in cursive letters. The number of the volume and the number of the magazine issue must be written in parenthesis and with a colon. Include first and last page of the work. For example:

Palma, J.M.; Galina, M.A and Silva, E. (1991). Producción de leche con (Cynodon pleoctostachyus) utilizando dos niveles de carga y de suplementación. Avances de Investigación Agropecuaria, 14 (1): 129-140.

In case of quoting various works of the same author, these must be arranged in chronological order.

When having various works of the same author published in the same year and with different collaborators, they must be listed according to the alphabetical order of the name of the second author.

When it is the same author and the same year, the letters (a), (b), must be included progressively between parentheses. In case of in-print publications, the magazine that printed the publication must be mentioned. Personal communications must not appear on the list of the bibliography being cited. It must be mentioned as a footnote.

Books

They must be cited in the same way as periodical publications but the publisher and the country of the publication must be cited after the title. For example:

Reyes, C.P. (1982). Bioestadística aplicada. México: Editorial Trillas.

In the case of a chapter of a book written by different authors, the author's name of the chapter's author must be cited, then the title of the chapter, after that, the editor's name and the book's title, followed by the country, the publisher, year, and pages that such chapter covers.

Thesis

They will be cited in the same way as the periodical publications, annotating at the end of the work the word "thesis", pointing out if it is a Master's Degree or Doctorate Degree, the institution, the country and year that was presented. Example:

Rodríguez, J.P. (1992). Evaluación del consumo voluntario aparente en ganado de engorda mediante un modelo de simulación. Tesis. FES-Cuautitlán, Universidad Autónoma de México. Cuautitlán, México.

Palma, J.M. (1991). Producción de leche en el trópico seco utilizando pasto estrella africana (Cynodon plectostachyus) o ensilado de maíz. Tesis de maestría. FMVZ, Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México. Ciudad de México.

In the case of books that include articles of different authors (yearbooks, etcetera), this will be cited as follows: last name and initial letter of the author'(s) of the article, year, title of the work. In: name (s) of the editor (s), title of the paper, numbers of pages, volume number in case that the work has various volumes, place and publisher under which it was published. Example:

Hodgson, J. (1994). Manejo de pastos: teoría y práctica. México: Editorial Diana. 252 p.

Conferences

Conferences or discussions that have been only published in the memoirs of a series of congresses, they will be quoted as follows: surname and initial of the author (s), year of publication, title of the work in italics, name of the conference or congress, place where the conference or congress was held, publisher and pages. Example:

Loeza, L.R.; Ángeles, A.A. y Cisneros, G.F. (1990). Alimentación de cerdos. Tercera Reunión Anual del Centro de Investigaciones Forestales y Agropecuarias del Estado de Veracruz, Veracruz. En: G.J.L. Zúñiga y B.J.A Cruz (editores), pp. 51-56.

Electronic references

When an electronic reference is used, the following fields must be completed: author, date, title and attach the queried address (url) and the date of consultation. The articles of a magazine must be annotated in the following manner: author, date, title, magazine, volume, pages, retrieved on the Internet on (date), network address (url). Example:

Sánchez, M. (2002). Potencial de las especies menores para los pequeños productores. Consultado el 20 de enero de 2003. Disponible en: <http://virtualcentre.org/es/enl/keynote4.htm>.